Robur's RSK Security Cabinets are certified according to the Swedish SS3492 burglar resistance standard, typically seen in cabinets and units designed to secure items and valuables such as cigarettes, weaponry or high value consumer goods.

Each cabinet is built from 4mm thick cold rolled steel and features a fully welded construction. A Class C lock – a type more commonly seen on high security safes – secures the door, along with cylindrical locking bolts along the side, top and bottom edges. Meanwhile, the hinge side of the door is protected by a dog bolt.

Available in a range of sizes, RSK cabinets come with easily adjustable internal shelving.* A wide range of additional fittings can be ordered for most cabinets, making for a particularly versatile storage and security solution. Whether you need to store valuables, documents, keys, or a combination of all the above, these cabinets can be fitted out to suit.
